Bhaskara Venkata Ramana Garbham has joined our company as a Member of Technical Staff (PE) in August 2021. I have closely guided and monitored him for the last 2 years.

As a Product Engineer, being part of AssistEdge an RPA product, he has showcased his quick learning abilities, technical skill, decision making and critical thinking side to the entire team. He has been an all-rounder and worked on multiple technologies such as .Net, Angular, Typescript, ELK. Developed a critical and impactful change in Robot and Robot Agent by implementing HTTP protocol-based communication with server, as it was very crucial for product to rollout into SAAS world, which were initially working on TCP based protocol. Bhaskara has always understood the axiom that hard work never fails and has given his consistent performance throughout the product release cycle which also led as a motivation to the new team members.

His brilliant problem-solving and great communication skills has helped to detect the cause during on field failures, also his ability to deliver practical results in spite of stringent timelines has fetched appreciation from all around. He is not just a consistent performer with competence, but at the same time he goes an extra mile to help out other members in the team.

Over the period of time, I knew Bhaskara, he has shown great interests to accept new assignments and have delivered quality results, he comes with a great package possessing excellent communication skills, technically sound enough to look into right direction and pin out any given issue, strong domain knowledge and quick learner.

On the personal front, he is a very humble individual, having a zest for life with a variety of interests.
